"Driving is a Risky Business"

In this Real life application of statistics Laura Bonnett, of the University of Liverpool and The Royal Statistical Society, explores what we consider to be an acceptable level of risk of an accident as a new driver. We will then debate whether this level of risk should also apply to people with underlying medical conditions.

Venue: Liverpool John Moores University : Lecture Theatre 2, Redmonds Building.
Door charges apply - LivMS members & Students free

The Redmonds Buildings is situated at the corner of Brownlow Hill and Clarence Street - having its entrance located on Brownlow Hill. It is just less than one-bus stop distant "up the hill" from the Britannia Adelphi Hotel.

Car Parking: There is a multi-storey car park very-close-by the Redmonds Building.
See web-link:
